

JAPAN WIRELESS WAITS ON WORD NEW YORK HEADS

Mainland Office is Arranging
With Japan for Opening
Date of New Service

No definite date has been set for the commencement of commercial wireless relations between the Japanese government plant and the Marconi system here nor will the definite time be known until advice have been received from the New York office which is in communication now with the Japanese. It is expected, however, that the date will be some time this week.

Edward B. Pillsbury, general superintendent of the transoceanic division for the Marconi Company of New York, and W. A. Winterbottom, division superintendent of the same company at San Francisco, who have been here for three weeks inspecting the Koko Head and Kahuku stations which comprise the largest wireless station in the world, make the preceding announcement.

They have found the Kahuku station, where messages will be sent simultaneously to Japan and California, and the Koko Head station, where they will be received simultaneously from the same places, all ready to make Honolulu not only the Paradise of the Pacific, the popping in the form of the great arcs shot from the power generated by three 500-horsepower engines.

Inside of six months Pillsbury and Winterbottom expect to see their business increase to such an extent that both stations will be utilized. To start, only the Kahuku plant will be in operation. Later about 12 expert mechanics will be employed at the Kahuku sending station and possibly 30 operators at the Koko Head station to receive all messages there and to send from there, via the Kahuku station, all messages to the outside world.

The wireless men say that cable and wireless business in Honolulu has increased 100 per cent in the last two years and expect it will continue to do so. There is no better indication of the economic condition of any country, they say, than the amount of messages sent, for when people are prosperous they resort more to the quicker but more expensive form of communication.

Four immense plants were started by the Marconi Company at the same time and are now all completed. Two are in operation, one at California and the other here. A third in New York was ready in 1914 but was rendered powerless, and probably will be until after the war, when the European conflict started, and when the English government took over the plant there to use for war purposes. The fourth plant in Massachusetts will soon be in communication with Norway.

PLOT TO ESCAPE CONVICTION IS FOUND IN LETTER

Chief McDuffie of the detectives has discovered a plot whereby Samuel Kahl, the paroled convict now in custody charged with several daylight burglaries in Honolulu recently, expected to obtain his freedom through the help of his wife. A letter which he wrote in the jail and which was intercepted tells the whole story. It is now in McDuffie's hands and reads in part as follows:

"My Dear Wife: Here is how I can get out of jail. Put — in this trouble instead. But you must tell that you saw him bring the box of lock to me and that he asked me to keep it for him. Tell this to Uncle Charlie and your brother Manuel and have them testify that — gave it to me, telling me that McDuffie was looking for him and he wanted me to hide it for him."

"I will do the rest of the talking inside the courthouse. All you have to say is 'yes,' and remember this is three to one. Believe me, when I get into the courtroom I will plead not guilty. I believe I will get by, by doing this."

McDuffie reports that several unidentified articles which were in Kahl's possession are still in his office and he hopes to learn of more burglaries later from Kahl.

ELKS WILL DANCE HALLOWE'EN BY THE SIGHING SEA

Witches of "ye olden dayes" may have sought secluded mountain retreats with a caldron as the centerpiece for their dances but in these modern times all is different, even to the celebration of Halloween. Tonight Honolulu Elks, their friends and those modern maids and matrons who bewitch them will dance on the beach at Waikiki at the Seaside.

Days have passed since members of Honolulu lodge, No. 616, received notification of the dance to be held at the seaside hotel. The invitations were on pumpkin colored paper printed in red and in black and embellished with pictures of the witches as our ancestors thought of them, not as the present generation knows them, bats, jack o' lanterns and similar things typical of the date for the dance. Tonight similar decorations will beautify and add a weirdness to the scene.

And as for the dance itself. There will be two orchestras so that intermissions will be an unknown element. There will be special light effects to add to the charm and cabaret numbers will be rendered.

A record-breaking crowd, even for an Elks' dance, is expected.

Agony of Leg Sore Stopped By D. D. D.

Woman Tells Pitiful Story

"I am the mother of 12 children. I took a varicose ulcer on my leg at the birth of last child five years ago. I used every ointment that is made. I was laid up for nearly five weeks with a doctor attending me who did nothing but treat these kind of things. Doctors told me to lie in bed, but where there is a big family one cannot do that. Then I heard about D. D. D. and as I used to tear my leg at night until it was a bleeding mass, I determined to try a bottle. I can't tell you the ease it gave me. I never used to sleep for the pain. Many a time I nearly fell with the dizziness in my head from want of sleep."

Now my leg is healed up, thanks to the blessed D. D. D. I never expected it to cure. I only got it to take away the terrible itch. By degrees I saw the big sore getting smaller."
